

Top five myths about fractional property ownership debunked

Blog

13.03.25

Fractional property ownership is a growing trend in property investment, but misconceptions about this innovative approach often hold investors back. By separating fact from fiction, we can help you make informed decisions and unlock the potential of this exciting investment strategy.

1. Myth: Fractional ownership is the same as timeshare

Fact: Fractional property investment and timeshare are entirely different. With fractional ownership, you own a share of the property, which often includes legal rights to rental income and capital appreciation. Timeshare, on the other hand, typically grants only the right to use a property for a specific period each year. Fractional ownership provides a genuine stake in property, making it an attractive option for those looking to find an investment property with a potential for long-term growth.

2. Myth: Fractional ownership is only for luxury properties

Fact: While fractional ownership is popular in high-end properties, it is not exclusive to luxury properties. Investors can access a wide range of opportunities, from residential homes to commercial properties, depending on their financial goals.

3. Myth: Fractional property investments are not profitable

Fact: Fractional ownership can generate rental income and capital appreciation, making it a profitable option for diversifying your portfolio. By spreading your investments across multiple properties, you can mitigate risks and increase returns. At TAB, we offer an interest rate calculator that helps you determine your potential return on investment. For example, if you invest £100,000 with an added ROI of 0.75% per month, your monthly return would be £750, allowing you to easily assess the profitability of your investment.

4. Myth: Selling your share in a fractional property is difficult

Fact: While liquidity may vary, selling a fractional property share is not as challenging as many think. Market demand for fractional ownership is growing, and many platforms offer secondary markets for reselling shares. Additionally, TAB Market provides a platform where investors can explore fractional ownership solutions in properties and offers the ability to share your stake should there be a willing buyer, offering transparency and a structured resale process.

5. Myth: Fractional ownership is too risky

Fact: As with any investment, fractional property ownership comes with risks, such as market volatility and illiquidity. However, the risks can be managed through proper research, diversification, and partnering with trusted platforms. By diversifying across different commercial properties and investment opportunities, investors can create a balanced portfolio that aligns with their financial objectives.

Why choose TAB for fractional property investment?

TAB simplifies fractional property ownership by offering access to a range of property investments. Through TAB Market, investors can explore opportunities in carefully selected properties, with clear investment structures and transparent processes. By providing detailed insights, ongoing support, and a straightforward approach to fractional ownership, TAB helps investors make informed decisions and navigate the market with confidence.

This information does not constitute advice or a personal recommendation. As with any investment your capital is at risk, and you should seek advice concerning suitability from your investment adviser. TAB is not authorised by the Financial Conduct Authority. Investments are not regulated, and you will have no access to the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS) or the Financial Ombudsman Service (FOS).

Capital is at risk. Property values can go down as well as up. Borrowers may default and investments may not perform as expected. Interest and income are not guaranteed. Returns may vary. You should not invest more than you can afford to lose. TAB is not authorised by the Financial Conduct Authority. Investments are not regulated and you will have no access to the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS) or the Financial Ombudsman Service (FOS). Past performance and forecasts are not reliable indicators of future results and should not be relied on. Forecasts are based on TAB's own internal calculations and opinions and may change. Investments are illiquid. Once invested, you are committed for the full term. Tax treatment depends on individual circumstances and may change.

You are advised to obtain appropriate tax or investment advice where necessary. Understand more about the key risks here.

TAB is a trading name of TAB London Limited. Registered in England and Wales with registration number: 11225821 and whose registered office is at 101 New Cavendish Street, London W1W 6XH.